The overall objective of the project is to increase the activation of persons at risk of social exclusion in the labour market by improving their skills, education, qualification and facilitating their full integration into the society and the labour market.' This overarching objective is broken down into specific purposes involving concrete interventions on three fronts: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Purpose 1: Improve the efficiency of employment and social services as a way of promoting the social inclusion of vulnerable and disadvantaged groups by assisting professionals from the Employment Centres and the Centres for Social Work in developing new skills as 'Mentors for Social Inclusion'; • Purpose 2: Empower vulnerable and disadvantaged groups and give them the skills and experience required to break down the hurdles they encounter on their journeys into long-term work and independence through a pre-employment training programme and work placements or internships in local businesses and social enterprises; • Purpose 3: Foster improvements in service delivery by designing new family support services and referral mechanisms, raising public awareness, and developing effective partnerships among key stakeholders (local self-government units, governmental institutions, non-governmental organizations involved in service delivery, social partners, education and training providers) to produce results on the ground. The expected results from the implementation of the project include: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. RESULT 1: The competences and skills of professionals working closely with the target group will be greatly strengthened through an innovative training programme and piloting of the Social Mentoring Model, thereby promoting efficiency in the provision of tailor made services to the target group. 2. RESULT 2: The employment potential of people at risk of social exclusion will be enhanced by promoting individual pathways towards employment and by developing new services, training programmes and work placements/internships tailored to the needs of the target group. 3. RESULT 3: Institutional set up and cooperation among local Employment Centres, Centres for Social Work, Local Authorities and NGOs will be strengthened through targeted networking and partnership-building activities that will clearly aim at leading the target groups to sustainable employment. 4. RESULT 4: Local authorities and key stakeholders will benefit as the project will provide recommendations and help improve the policy and service frameworks that are needed for the replication of best practices. 5. RESULT 5: Stakeholder and public awareness will be raised through volunteer promotion to advocate the rights of vulnerable groups in the corporate world and in society and awareness-raising events with the aim to dismantle prejudice and attitudinal barriers preventing the Action's target groups from accessing the labour market. 						KMOP's role in the project pertains to the following services: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Provision of Training to Employment and Social Welfare Professionals to Become Trainers on Social Mentoring Practices • Piloting of the Social Mentoring Model • Delivery of a Manual for 'Mentors for Social Inclusion' • Design and Delivery of a Pre-Employment Training Programme for socially vulnerable populations • Design of Family Support Services and Referral Mechanisms • Development of cooperation mechanisms among providers of social and employment services • Organization of a Public Awareness-Raising Campaign

Detailed description of project						Type of services provided
The overall objective of this project is the development of employability skills for unemployed persons with disadvantaged backgrounds. Target groups, for whose differing needs services are customised, include disabled persons, mentally ill persons, drug addicts, immigrants, refugees and Greek repatriates, cultural minorities, single mothers and long-term unemployed over 45 years of age. Strategically supporting self-employment of a kind that can be sustained as the market and social conditions change and evolve, is central to all activities, which focus on decision-making, communication, job-seeking, career planning and personal development. Resulting from the development of technical competences, the beneficiaries, which number 500, take more active part in their local affairs, which reduces their social exclusion and contributes to full integration into the local labour market. KMOP builds on a number of practices and tools that it has created over the past few years that help its beneficiaries to develop their employability skills and find a job or start up their own businesses. In line with the indicators of the programme, and expected outputs, the total number of beneficiaries to date amount to 500 people.						KMOP is the leader of the large consortium; hence assume financial management and administration procedures in accordance with EU rules and regulations for financed programmes, as well as monitoring and coordination of work progress to achieve expected outputs. The services comprise recruiting and selecting beneficiaries, drawing up individual profiles and action plans, conduct face-to-face consultation and group counselling, provision of socio-psychological support, vocational guidance, promotion of employment actions, legal consultation, medical consultation and childcare support. The project also involves awareness-raising actions targeting the public and local authorities. In addition, through its in-house experts, KMOP provides consulting services to the staff involved in this project, namely social workers, psychologists, legal experts for business, employment experts, taxation experts for small and very small businesses.
